I. Today's Reading

NKJV: Ezekiel 27:26-36

26 Your oarsmen brought you into many waters, But the east wind broke you in the midst of the seas.

27 Your riches, wares, and merchandise, Your mariners and pilots, Your caulkers and merchandisers, All your men of war who are in you, And the entire company which is in your midst, Will fall into the midst of the seas on the day of your ruin.

28 The common-land will shake at the sound of the cry of your pilots.

29 All who handle the oar, The mariners, All the pilots of the sea Will come down from their ships and stand on the shore.

30 They will make their voice heard because of you; They will cry bitterly and cast dust on their heads; They will roll about in ashes;

31 They will shave themselves completely bald because of you, Gird themselves with sackcloth, And weep for you With bitterness of heart and bitter wailing.

32 In their wailing for you They will take up a lamentation, And lament for you: 'What city is like Tyre, Destroyed in the midst of the sea?

33 When your wares went out by sea, You satisfied many people; You enriched the kings of the earth With your many luxury goods and your merchandise.

34 But you are broken by the seas in the depths of the waters; Your merchandise and the entire company will fall in your midst.

35 All the inhabitants of the isles will be astonished at you; Their kings will be greatly afraid, And their countenance will be troubled.

36 The merchants among the peoples will hiss at you; You will become a horror, and be no more forever.

II. Key Summary

- Tyre is pictured as a ship: the east wind breaks her at sea, and her riches, wares, mariners, pilots, and men of war all sink on the day of her ruin.
 - Sailors and pilots from everywhere come down from their ships to stand on the shore, crying bitterly for Tyre — throwing dust on their heads, rolling in ashes, shaving themselves bald, and putting on sackcloth.
 - They take up a lament, "What city is like Tyre," recalling how her goods once satisfied many peoples and enriched kings, while the islands look on astonished, kings are afraid, and merchants hiss at her.

III. Passage Analysis

The one who was most impressive can become the most wrecked

A few years since no city like her in beauty, riches, glory, and joy, now none like her in all the contraries. [1]

Tyre did not slowly fade. The same city gets described twice with the same words — once at her best, once at her worst. What she was proudest of is exactly what sank hardest.

A long list with no room for God

The absence of any mention of God shows that they cared only for business, with no regard to God their creator and redeemer. [2]

The whole chapter before this is a long inventory of Tyre's trading partners and goods — and God is nowhere on it. When the east wind came, nothing on that list could save her.

IV. Reflection Question

What is the one thing you'd least want to lose right now?

Tyre's list had everything on it except God, and on the day the east wind came, nothing on that list stayed.
