I. Today's Reading

NKJV: 1 Chronicles 29:10-19

10 Therefore David blessed the LORD before all the assembly; and David said: “Blessed are You, LORD God of Israel, our Father, forever and ever.

11 Yours, O LORD, is the greatness, the power and the glory, the victory and the majesty; for all that is in heaven and in earth is Yours; Yours is the kingdom, O LORD, and You are exalted as head over all.

12 Both riches and honor come from You, and You reign over all. In Your hand is power and might; in Your hand it is to make great and to give strength to all.

13 “Now therefore, our God, we thank You and praise Your glorious name.

14 But who am I, and who are my people, that we should be able to offer so willingly as this? For all things come from You, and of Your own we have given You.

15 For we are aliens and pilgrims before You, as were all our fathers; our days on earth are as a shadow, and without hope.

16 “O LORD our God, all this abundance that we have prepared to build You a house for Your holy name is from Your hand, and is all Your own.

17 I know also, my God, that You test the heart and have pleasure in uprightness. As for me, in the uprightness of my heart I have willingly offered all these things; and now with joy I have seen Your people, who are present here to offer willingly to You.

18 O LORD God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, our fathers, keep this forever in the intent of the thoughts of the heart of Your people, and fix their heart toward You.

19 And give my son Solomon a loyal heart to keep Your commandments and Your testimonies and Your statutes, to do all these things, and to build the temple for which I have made provision.”

II. Key Summary

• David blessed the LORD before all the assembly, calling Him “LORD God of Israel, our Father.” He said that the greatness, power, glory, victory, majesty, all that is in heaven and earth, and the kingdom belong to God, and that riches and honor come from Him (vv. 10-12).

• David thanked God and asked, “Who am I, and who are my people, that we should be able to offer so willingly as this?” He said all things come from God and “of Your own we have given You,” and that they are aliens and pilgrims before God, with days on earth like a shadow (vv. 13-16).

• David said God tests the heart and has pleasure in uprightness; he had offered willingly with an upright heart and had seen with joy the people offer willingly. He asked God to keep this forever in the hearts of the people, and to give Solomon a loyal heart to keep God's commandments and build the temple (vv. 17-19).

III. Passage Analysis

Even the Willing Heart Comes from God

> “David knew that both the ability and the heart to give were themselves gifts from God. He was actually humbled by having such a heart to give, both in himself and in the people of Israel as a group.” [1]

In verse 14 David asks, “Who am I, and who are my people, that we should be able to offer so willingly as this?” Then he answers his own question: “For all things come from You.”

As the commentary reads it, David counts even the willing heart among the things that come from God.

Asking God to Keep That Heart

> “For David knew that unless God would ‘fix their heart toward You,’ even if people turn to God and follow Him for a while, in the end they cannot last.” [2]

In verse 17 David says he has seen with joy the people “offer willingly”; in verse 18 he goes on to ask God to “keep this forever in the intent of the thoughts of the heart of Your people, and fix their heart toward You," and in verse 19 he asks for "a loyal heart" for Solomon.

In a moment of joy, David asks God to keep that heart in place.

IV. Reflection Question

If you had just given your own allowance or time to help someone, and everyone was praising you, what would you do?

David and the people had just willingly offered great amounts of gold and silver, and David blessed the LORD before all the assembly, saying, "All things come from You, and of Your own we have given You." (v. 14)
