I. Today's Reading

NKJV: 1 Corinthians 15:35-49

35 But someone will say, "How are the dead raised up? And with what body do they come?" 36 Foolish one, what you sow is not made alive unless it dies. 37 And what you sow, you do not sow that body that shall be, but mere grain—perhaps wheat or some other grain. 38 But God gives it a body as He pleases, and to each seed its own body.

39 All flesh is not the same flesh, but there is one kind of flesh of men, another flesh of animals, another of fish, and another of birds.

40 There are also celestial bodies and terrestrial bodies; but the glory of the celestial is one, and the glory of the terrestrial is another. 41 There is one glory of the sun, another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars; for one star differs from another star in glory.

42 So also is the resurrection of the dead. The body is sown in corruption, it is raised in incorruption. 43 It is sown in dishonor, it is raised in glory. It is sown in weakness, it is raised in power. 44 It is sown a natural body, it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body. 45 And so it is written, "The first man Adam became a living being." The last Adam became a life-giving spirit.

46 However, the spiritual is not first, but the natural, and afterward the spiritual. 47 The first man was of the earth, made of dust; the second Man is the Lord from heaven. 48 As was the man of dust, so also are those who are made of dust; and as is the heavenly Man, so also are those who are heavenly. 49 And as we have borne the image of the man of dust, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly Man.

II. Key Summary

- Paul uses the seed analogy to explain resurrection: the body sown is corruptible, dishonorable, weak, and natural — but the body raised is incorruptible, glorious, powerful, and spiritual.
- Paul points to the variety in creation — people, animals, birds, fish, and the differing glories of sun, moon, and stars — to show that God is fully capable of giving people a new body perfectly suited for resurrection life.

- Paul contrasts the "first Adam" (earthly, made of dust) with the "last Adam" (Christ, heavenly, from heaven), showing that just as we now bear the image of the man of dust, we will one day bear the image of the heavenly Man.

III. Passage Analysis

They are not lost — they are sown

"Our family circle has been broken," say you. Yes, but only broken that it may be re-formed. You have lost a dear friend: yes, but only lost that friend that you may find him again, and find more than you lost. They are not lost; they are sown." [1]

Paul's seed analogy reframes the way we see death. A farmer plants a single grain of wheat, but what grows out of the ground looks nothing like what was buried. Death is not the end of the story — it is God planting something He intends to raise into something far more glorious than what went in.

The body that holds you back will one day be perfectly made for you

"Just as earthly bodies suit our present physical existence, the spiritual body will be perfectly adapted to the spiritual man — no longer a hindrance but a help, free from the weakness of flesh that currently impedes spiritual progress." [2]

Right now we carry the image of the first Adam — bodies that get sick, wear out, and let us down. But Paul says those who belong to the last Adam (Christ) will one day bear a heavenly image: a body perfectly fitted for the life ahead, no longer standing in the way of who God made us to be.

IV. Reflection Question

Have you ever felt like your own body — or who you are right now — is holding you back or letting you down?

Paul says this body is just the seed being planted; God is already planning what will be raised in glory, in strength, and in the image of Christ.
